

Riana Gayle

Home Address

479 N 500 E
Logan, UT 84321
(704) 840-7642
riana.gayle@aggiemail.usu.edu

Work Address

Natural Resources Building
Room 353D
5230 Old Main Hill
Logan, UT 84321

Education

Master of Science in Ecology, Utah State University, Projected May 2018
Bachelor of Science in Natural Resources, North Carolina State University, December 2014

Research Experience

Graduate Research Assistant, Utah State University, August 2016 – present
Undergraduate Research Technician, NC Museum of Natural Sciences, September 2013 – August 2015

Work Experience

Corps Member, AmeriCorps National Civilian Community Corps, Southwest Region US, October 2015 – July 2016
Corps Member, American Conservation Experience, Hurricane, Utah, May 2015 – July 2015

Scholarship

Peer Reviewed Articles (In Preparation)

Smith, J. W., Gayle, R., Wilkins, E., & Lamborn, C. C. (In preparation). The effects of local climatology on national park visitation in the Southern Wasatch Mountain Range and the Southwestern Colorado Plateau. Tourism Management.

Invited Workshop Participant

CBIE International Winter School Attendee, Tempe, Arizona, January 2-7, 2017
Worked with a team of social scientists from around the world to explore the benefits and challenges of modeling human behavior in complex adaptive systems. In collaboration with a team, completed extensive modifications to an existing agent based model with a hydrological focus. Social theories were incorporated into the new code.

Service

Institutional Activities

Graduate Student Council Member, Utah State University, August 2016 – present
Ecology Center Member, Utah State University, August 2016 – present
Student Nutrition Access Center (SNAC) Volunteer, April 2017 – present

References

Available upon request